Make the most of the best European strategies is essential to mobilize a growing number of investors. The leaders of sustainable finance in Europe share their responsible investment strategies that have proved successful.

Netherlands: Invest in the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

Large Dutch pension funds are aligning on UN SDGs to seize the impact of their responsible investment strategies. An inclusive model that keeps Dutch citizens involved.

José Meijer, Vice-Chair of the Board of Trustees, Pension funds ABP

Rudy Verstappen, Senior Project Manager Responsible Investment, VBDO

Nordics: The dynamics of ethics

In the Nordics countries, the dominance of responsible investing has long been exclusion strategies. The practice is still used but it is now combined with other effective strategies.

Hilde Jervan, Chief Advisor at Council on Ethics for the Norwegian Government Pension Fund (Norway)

Ulrika Hasselgren, Managing Director and Global Head of Responsible Investment Strategy & ESG integration, Institutional Shareholder Services (Sweden)

United Kingdom: Shareholders fighting climate change

Shareholders engagement is the main influence tool for British responsible investors to shift companies' position lines on climate.

Hugh Wheelan, Managing editor, Responsible Investor

Emma Howard Boyd, Chair of the Environment Agency, UK Government

Germany: Lofty ambition

Despite some timid position in the European responsible investing landscape, Germany sets out its ambition to become a sustainable finance hub. One of the challenges: integrate ESG analysis into pension's management.

Andreas Hallermeier, Sustainability manager and Assistant to the Chief investment officer - Bayerische Versorgungskammer

Robert Hassler, Founder and CEO, oekom research

France: The positive role of the regulation

France starts measuring the impact of the article 173, the first-ever investor climate-reporting regulation in Europe: Preliminary lessons from the respondent institutions and areas of improvements.

Sophie Elkrief, Chief Investment Officer, MAIF
Dominique Blanc, Head of Research, Novethic
